I know it is weird to share a document of this kind as it's not common and it's not what we're used to. Even though the existing mechanisms didn't support these sorts of complements, I used to write my un/successes down as soon as I got over them. Thus, I always used to feel the passion and igniting power of success inside me. It never boosted me more than necessary, but it always made sure that I was on the move and the way, working hard with no "unproductive" breaks. As I found this "Junior Me" document in Turkish in the dusty, old files, I immediately felt an urge to turn it into English to publish. Here it is... The most truthful and naive document of my "grown-up" life.

Enjoy!
